This week in Avon Class...

What an incredible start we've had to our first full week in Avon Class! The children have been full of energy and excitement, especially with the arrival of our fantastic new outdoor equipment. It is designed to help us build strong bodies and coordination, it's been a huge hit! We've loved climbing, crawling and balancing on it. We've also enjoyed zooming around on the trikes and spinning in the giant spinning top!

Fun, fun, fun...

Young Voices - As per the letter that went out yesterday, please make sure to order T-shirts and tickets, if needed, and put the dates for the workshops in your diaries.

Friday 24th October is a TED Day

Music of the Week

This week we've been listening to Morning mood by Grieg Grieg: Peer Gynt Suite No. 1, "Morning Mood" / Thomas Dausgaard & Seattle Symphony as we enter assembly and Gungor "Beautiful Things" as we leave. We have been thinking about Kintsugi pots in assembly and thinking about how we are all beautiful and unique and that even when we are broken or cracked we can be restored and sometimes during that restoration we become even better and more beautiful.
